

S.W.O.T

Strengths

- I tend to be a perfectionist this allows me to always strive for the best work i can do
- Im very open and outgoing which makes communication important to me
- I'm a participative worker this makes me inclined to see other people's perspective on something and gain knowledge from that

Weakness

- Perfectionism also tends to be one of my biggest weakness it slows me down on a lot of tasks and makes it hard for me to complete certain projects
- Tendency to have poor time management
- Can be forgetful at times this hurts me but i am typically able to recover before this has harsh ramifications

Opportunities

- I have many friends and former coworkers that are currently software developers or going to school to become one so i get to collaborate often and see a wide variety of work flows with different programs and languages

Threats

- I really want to become a developer and get my feet in the door , this might cause me to rush through my process and impair my judgement
